

Vision

To be recognized by business, governments and academia as the governing and standards-setting body for professional marketers in Canada.

Mission

To demonstrate the value of professional marketing to Canadian governments, businesses and the general public, and advance innovative marketing knowledge among members.

Structure

The Canadian Institute of Marketing is a virtual organization that is Web-based and governed by a Council comprised of professional marketers in Canada and other countries.